The China and Manila Steamship Co., The Chinese Rendition case which has been so long pending seems at last to be ing a conclusion. Mr Mitchell Innes yesterday said he had decided to commit the defendant to prison to await the orders of His Excellency the Acting Governor. This taken by the Japan Mail Company to let is equivalent to finding a prima facic case against the prisoner, whose fate may now be considered as sealed. We have not been following the evidence with sufficient eare to form an estimate of its real value OPENED-out-for Coast Port Orders as in support of this, the second, charge that has been brought against the man. And even after the most minute study we fear it would be impossible for anyone to be sure that the testimony brought forward is genuine or learned by heart from some one interested in getting a conviction. This rendition case is a sad example of the difficulty of cooperation in the repression of crims of two Governments whose laws differ sa widely as these of Great Britain and China. It is some seven or eight months since three men were arrested on a charge of murder. The Messageries have decided to inaugurate a new mail line between Shanghai and Yokohama, via the Inland Sea, employing for the purpose the fine steamers so well known to people travelling westward. The Diemnak has commenced the new service, leaving Shanghai on the 9th instant. A slight advantage is offered in respect of fares, but there is little to choose here. One thing, however, is certain, namely, that if the Messageries arrange their fime-table on a rational system they will carry more passengers than their rivals. THE BURGLARY AT KOWLOON

The following evidence was taken to-day with regard to the charge against the 33 mon arrested on a charge of being connected with the daring burglary at Kowloon Point on Saturday night.

Mr Wilkinson appeared for 17 men and Mr Dennys for 15 men who were arrested in one house.

Cheong a Lam said she was an amah t Mrs Wohlters. On the 27th inst., at about 9 p.m., she went to bed with the baby. Her mistress had gone to Hongkeng for the night and she was left alone. She was awakened by hearing dogs hark and men's voices shout. She got up and stood close to her bed. She saw some men coming in at the office window. She heard a report and then saw people enter. She heard a noise as if the gentleman in the house was being beaten. Four or five men came into her room and told her to go out. They drove her into a corner of the sitting room, and told her not to move so she stopped there with the child. She heard boxes beng broken open in the room she left. imputed to them, it must also be admitted. When the men came out one bad a bag in his hand. She came over on the afternoon, and returned at eight o'clock on the following morn-The house consisted of two bodrooms, one occupied by herself, amah and baby and the other by Mr Cameran. The only other rooms were the sitting room and dining room, the latter being used as an office as well. She wont to her house from information received on Sunday morning. She first went into the sitting room and then went into the bed-room. Everything was in a state of confusion. Her wardrobe had been cut to nieces. It contained jewellery worth over a thousand dollars There were among other things a pair of Chinese-made, bracelets, a gold watch, and main, a silver watch, two gentlemen's gold chains, two ladies' long gold chains, a pair of emerald earrings and brooch set in gold, a pair of coral and gold earnings and brooch a diamond ring, &c. These were all in the sandal wood box along with a number of bank receipfs and a fire insurance policy. From another box in her room she missed two silver cups worth about $15 each, also a six-chambered revolver, live silver napkin rings and some curtains. These had been set fire to and were partially burnt. A chest of drawers had also been broken open and photographs taken. Including the damage done to the furniture she thought she had lost about $1800. would know her proporty again if she saw it. She was almost sure the box of cartridges in Court belonged to her. She did not recognise anything else in Court. She did not think the evening of her coming to Hongkong was specially selected for the attack; she had no suspicion as regards hor servants. The boy and the smah both knew where she kept the jewel box. She had had the jewellery for about seven cars. The amah had been in her employ for about 10 years and the boy for one month. The cook also knew where she kept her jewellery. The sixth prisoner Wales chooses to array himself in a rigidlycorrect costume? I suppose that if Hi Royal Highness were a practical humorist and thought fit to give the public a proof becile imitators of society's follies and absurdities, by making his appearance in the full costume of a clown in a pantomine, within three days several hundreds a clowns would assuredly come forth in imitation of the exalted personage who had stamped this craze with his flat.

so many deer every year as perquisites of their office. I. believe that the Lord Steward gets no less than twelve. I saw last Monday three bucks in hampers a Hamptonwick station, addressed respectively to Lord Esher.-W. H. Smith and the Speaker. On each laber was the intimation that, though the bucks were presented. shillings were to be collected on the hamper. Judying from my experience, the authorities seem to buy hampers in as bad market as their war materials, for I should be happy to supply any number of sucl hampers for 3 shillings each,

Paris, July 27. - Deputy Laner, who made the astounding charge that Boulanger had confided to him that eighty four generals of the army had offered their services to everthrow the Republic, has sought to distract attention from the demand agon duelist, Paul de Cassagnac, who branded Lauer as a liar. Cassagnac has declined the challenge in a most caustic note, in which he says that he would be too stupid if bya personal quarrel he permitted him to escaps the consequences of his foolish act.
The writer calls for proofs from Lauer, if he wishes to escape his personal disdein and the contempt of the public. Paris, July 28.—Deputy Lauer, in an swer to the faunts of Paul do Cassairnac that the former lied when he stated that General Boulanger had been invited by eighty-four Generals in the army to head a coin d'état in favor of the restoration of the monarchy, has published a lotter to his seconds in the coming duel giving the names of the Generals. 'This letter,' says Denuty Lauer, M. de Cassagnad can read on the field of the duel, if he appears at the time appointed. Lauer then taunti his antagonist with having hidden in cellar during the battle of Sedan.

BOULANGER'S PLAN TO RILL FERRY.

Paris, August 2. - No one believes now that any duel can take place between Boulanger and Ferry. The seconds of the latter could not consent to the terms of Boulanger's seconds without giving up Ferry's ife absolutely to his opponent. Paris, August 2.—General Boulanger's Nagasaki. 29.97 seconds publish a report of what they say Wlostock 30.00 64 90 ar transpired at the conference between them and the seconds of Ferry. The report is in substance as follows: General Bou- high, the humidity moderate and fine wearlanger desired a s rious reparation, one properly proportioned to the gravity of ferry's affront. On this account he proposed that the combatants exchange shots until one was hit the choice of distance to be left to the seconds of Ferry. These conditions being accepted, Boulanger's seconds agreed to be content with an exchange of shots between the principals at twenty paces without any word of command. Conthat he may have opportunity of recovering sidering this proposal to embody the extreme height of General Boulanger's formal instructions, his seconds did not feel authorized to make any further proposition. Forry's seconds could only accept a duel at twenty-five paces with a single exchange of shots, the fire to be opened at a word of command. Thereupon, as the offended party has, t lightning, o overcast, p passing showers, has the right to dictate the conditions of a duel without being obliged to submit to the Ferry's seconds confirm the statement that they were unable to come to an agreement respecting the conditions of the duel between their principals and General Bonlanger.
